Fairport Upsets 'Lakers' 39-7

A hard hitting, light Fairport eleven crushed a favorite Canandaigua Academy team, 39-7 last Saturday before a large crowd on the local gridiron. The highly publicized Canandaigua "Braves" were no match for a fired-up Fairport team as the local boys, by their savage defensive play, forced the Finger Lake squad into many errors and led to three quick T. D.'s in the first half.

A quick pass from Paul Carini to Fairport's great defensive end, Jim Kane, placed the ball on the two-yard line when Teddy Pittinaro scored on a quick dive into the huge Canandaigua line. The extra point was missed.

Then early in the second period Fairport pounced on a Canandaigua fumble and Fairport had the ball at midfield. Quickly Paul Carini surprised the visitors' defense by passing beautifully to John Masciangelo, good for twenty-five yards and a score. Again the extra point was missed.

For the third score in the first half Bob Myers, a defensive stand-out, intercepted a Canandaigua pass and Fairport was on the march. This drive was featured by a great run by Paul Carini and a neat forty-six yard gallop by "Yogi" Pittinaro. With the ball close to pay dirt Tommy called on his pile-driving fullback, Big Bill Rumpf, to score for Fairport, which he promptly did. Teddy Pittinaro made the extra point and Fairport led 19-0 at half time.

The second half opened with a recovered fumble by Carini and, mixing his attack, beautiful quarter-back Carini moved his team down for another score. Again it was Bill Rumpf.

Gary Laties diagnosed a Canandaigua flat pass and intercepted it to go 55 yards for another score.

Firemen Call For Funds This Week

This week members of the Fairport Fire Department will call on our citizens for their contributions to the department's annual fund raising campaign. This is the only time you will be called upon for funds during the coming year to give your support to the local department, as no other means to solicit funds will be made.

Your fire department is ready at all times of day or night to respond to your call for help, whether for fires or disasters. Many of the members are trained to administer first aid, which could be important in many cases.

The maintenance of a fire department as well trained as your local department needs funds for equipment and supplies. During the past year volunteers raised money through dances, parties and other means, but this fund campaign will make other ways of raising money unnecessary.

Whether you send your contribution by mail or give it to the volunteer fireman who will call upon you, give generously. Many of your neighbors are members of one of the three companies of the department and as volunteers they ask your support at this time.

Your Last Chance To Register

MAKING SURE THEY CAN VOTE. Carl Burlingame, waits his turn to register as Frederick Peck, social studies teacher of Fairport Central School, is registered by election inspector, Mrs. Margaret Sweeney, in the Fairport Fire House.

About 2400 persons registered in the villages of Fairport and East Rochester last Friday and Saturday. This is less than half the number of persons in the town of Perinton, in the two villages, who must register in person in order to vote for the president of the United States, and other government officials, this coming November.

Merchants Meet Monday To Form Association Again

There are two more registration days left for persons residing in the villages. Tomorrow, Friday, Oct. 12, from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Saturday, Oct. 13, from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m.

There is one more day of registration for persons in the Town outside the villages — Saturday, Oct. 13, from 1 to 10 p.m.

'ELECTION DAY IS TUESDAY, NOV. 6; and the polls will open from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m., scheduled for 8 p.m. in the American Legion rooms of the Municipal Building where they vote, as follows: District 1—Egypt Fire House; District 2—Bushnell's Bar; District 3—Fire House; District 4 and 5—Municipal Building; Districts 6 and 7—Fairport Potter Memorial; District 8—Library in East Rochester; District 9—Whitney and School House corner; Districts 10 and 11—Bairst Rd. school house; District 12—Ken Ralph Ford Agency; District 13—Muzek's Service Station, corner Mysley and Palmyra Rds.; District 14—Fire Room in Fairport Village Hall.

Persons who live in the Town outside the two villages are carried over on the registration books if they voted in the town within the last two years.

While this community once boasted a strong merchants' association, the group was finally disbanded last year. Many local businessmen believe that the salvation of this community as a shopping district depends largely upon a strong bond among merchants. The success in organizing such a group will depend entirely upon the turnout at the meeting Monday night.

Fairport's New Police Officer

Halley Norman Young

Halley Norman Young of 56 Summit St. is Fairport's new policeman. Although Mr. Young worked at the American Can Co. for nearly six years he is a comparative newcomer to this village, having lived here only three years. He was born and raised on his father's fruit farm in Wolcott and was graduated from Levenworth Central School, also in Wolcott. He worked for his father before coming to the American Can Co. While in high school he played on the soccer team.

Mr. Young's hobby is the Boy's Club at the Perinton Conservation Club in Bushnell's Basin where he has instructed about 300 10-14 year-olds in safety with firearms and clean sportsmanship. He is also a member of the Conservation League. Mr. Young enjoys hunting and said, "If I teach these future hunters how to shoot safely, I won't have to worry about getting shot at myself."

Stating that he was always interested in police work, Young said he hopes he comes up to the expectations of the people by the time his trial period is over in November.

Young, who will be 26 in November, is married. He and his wife Viola have two children, Kenneth, 3½, and Linda, 2½.

Lions Host Little League Champions

Fairport Lions played host at a dinner last Tuesday evening honoring the championship team, which carries their name. Also honored were team manager Howard Cuykendall and his assistant Earl Long. With these two men at their helm the Fairport Lions Little League have won four championships in the five-year history of the League.

Speaker of the evening was Tom Decker, WVET news director, who has aired the Red Wings games for the past three years. Decker drew parallels of the rise of the 56 Red Wings — taking a team that was predicted to go nowhere.

Through the year they worried a center-fielder into a relief pitcher, and a second string catcher into a tremendous hitter who finally ended the season by taking the top spot away from a "tried and true" first-string catcher. They also took a very good third baseman (who liked the position) and moved him to a strange second-base position. Using these switches as examples, Decker brought out facts of true sportsmanship and team spirit. "That is the lesson that the little league is teaching you boys," Decker stated. "Probably not one of you will ever play professional baseball, but you can always use the lesson taught by your managers, no matter what your vocation might be."

These lessons taught the Red-Wing team by more experienced men in their early careers caused them to go on to become giant killers in the International League, said Decker. They ended up in second place in the League and took the Shawnee Playoffs. Decker also stated that the team finally "ran out of gas" in the Little World Series.

A question and answer period followed Decker's talk, revealing a multitude of armchair managers. Each of the Lions adopted a boy from the team and introduced him to the crowd.

The Oct. 16 meeting of the Lions Club will be a sound picture about weekly newspapers, presented by Charles Stauber, general manager of Empire State Weeklies, of which this paper is a member. Mr. Stauber says the picture was made in a weekly paper on Long Island by the Voice of America for showing in other countries as a testimonial for free press in America.

Grange Honors Two Fifty-Year Members

Fairport Grange, at its regular meeting last Saturday evening celebrated the 50th anniversary of Grange membership for two more of its members, Mrs. Daisy DeNise of 37 Aldrich Rd. and Bradenton, Fla. who took the first degree in 1904; and Mrs. Lillian Jones of Town and County Line Rd., who became a member in 1906. Incidentally Mrs. Jones is the third of six generations to occupy the home she now lives in, and in which four of those six generations are now occupying at the present time.

Both Mrs. DeNise and Mrs. Jones were presented with beautifully bound Golden Age Certificates signed at Washington D.C. by officers of the National Grange. The two honored ladies also each received 50-year gold pins.

Grangers enjoyed group singing led by Allan Draper, newly elected Lecturer. All joined in expressing congratulations and best wishes to Mrs. DeNise and Mrs. Jones, and also to Master Elect Augustine Marvin, who left the following day on his trip to Guatemala. Refreshments were served. Four new members were initiated into Juvenile Grange — Joyce Ann and Kenneth Webb and Mary Ann and Jack Draper.

O.E.S. Plans Initiation

Bloodmobile Sets Oct. 29 As Date For Next Visit

A "five-times-a-year donor," Herman Walz, spoke to the Fairport teams and committee of the Red Cross Blood Bank at a morning meeting, Tuesday, Oct. 9, at the First Congregational Church. Mr. Walz a member of the firm of Walz and Krenzer, Rochester, has already demonstrated belief in the value of a pint of blood; over a period of years he has donated a total of 56 pints of his own blood. As a member of the Volunteer Speakers' Bureau for the Red Cross, Mr. Walz is sincere in urging every one who can possibly do so to give a pint of blood when the Bloodmobile comes to Fairport on Oct. 29; a member of his own family had unexpected need of 12 pints of blood recently, and the blood was ready and waiting, thanks to the Red Cross Blood Bank.

Forty-five members were present when recruitment kits were given out by Mrs. Richard Ryon and Miss Marie Hartigan, Rochester Regional Blood Program representative. Miss Badger, the new Director of the Rochester Regional Blood Program, visitor at the meeting was pleased with the response of the Fairport-Perinton Bloodmobile comes to the First Congregational Church in Fairport on Oct. 29.

Fairport Man Receives Year Pen Sentence

County Judge Clarence J. Henry sentenced William Harrison, 39, who gave his address as the Coltinge Hotel, to a year in the County Penitentiary on his plea of guilty Sept. 17 to petit larceny. Had he admitted a burglary charge involved, he would have been a fourth felony offender, according to Assistant District Attorney John A. Mastrella.

Gas Station Approved On Much Disputed Site

The application of John D. Andrews to build a gas station on Route 86 was approved this week by the Perinton Town Board.

The site of the gas station on the north side of Route 86 is part of the much disputed 150 acres of land involved in several legal actions recently. It was zoned industrial by the town board, but some citizens challenged the board's zoning in court.

The State Supreme Court upheld the industrial zoning. A planned appeal of the decision was dropped, leaving the area zoned industrial.
